IntelliTech Systems Receives Woman-Owned Business Award

Dr. Patel accepts EPA award

The Environmental Protection Agency Recognizes IntelliTech Systems with its Award for Outstanding Accomplishments by a Woman-Owned Business

Washington DC, November 2, 2006: The EPA held its 18th Annual Small and Disadvantaged Business awards ceremony on November 2, 2006. IntelliTech Systems was honored to receive the administrator's award for Outstanding Accomplishments by a Woman-Owned Business. Jeanette Brown, Director, and Ray Spears, Deputy Chief of Staff presented the award to Dr. Hema Patel, President and CEO of IntelliTech.

This award is presented to the woman-owned company that truly exemplifies the best attributes of a business attempting to enter into America's economic mainstream. The criteria for the award included:

- Clear evidence that the contractor has performed well on all EPA contracts.
- The job was performed on schedule or ahead of schedule.
- The job was performed within the cost factors estimated for the job.
- Clear evidence that the firm is well qualified for the work, has integrity and can be considered as a successful and responsible business.
- Recognition as an excellent firm by peers in the business community.

The nomination included comments by IntelliTech's client at the National Center for Environmental Assessment (NCEA) at the EPA. Dr. Andrew Gillespie, the Director of the NCEA stated, "As the contract nears its end, we look back with a great deal of appreciation for all the extra effort, the strong work ethic and the personal pride IntelliTech Systems has displayed over the past five years. IntelliTech's dedication to assisting NCEA's customers has been outstanding." Dr. Patel added, "It is a great honor to receive this award and a tribute to the exceptional staff within our company."

IntelliTech Systems specializes in Information Technology/Management, Administrative Services, Environmental Sciences, and Technical Product Development. IntelliTech is based in Fairborn, Ohio and was founded by Dr. Hema Patel in 1993. Its clients include Wright Patterson Air Force Base, the EPA, and various government and commercial organizations.
